The Future Of Learning Starts Now
LAUSD Makes Distance Learning a Reality

Content provided by K2OCONNECT
The Future of Learning Starts Now.

Los Angeles Unified School District Make Distance Learning a Reality.

Kecia Ray
Moderator
Principal Consultant
K20Connect

Alison Yoshimoto-Towery
Panelist
Chief Academic Officer
Los Angeles Unified School District

Soheil Katal
Panelist
Chief Information Officer
Los Angeles Unified School District
Overview

- The second-largest K-12 in the nation
- Covers 710 square miles in 26 municipalities across Los Angeles County
- Enrolls over half a million students
- Operates over 1,300 schools
- The second-largest employer in Los Angeles with over 63,500 employees.

Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD)
What does it mean for a student to be learning virtually?

- Student Has a Learning Device
- Students and Teachers Have a Way to Get Online
- Student is Fully Engaged in Learning
How have we updated our infrastructure to support?

• Starting inventory of 301K usable learning devices, we procured and distributed 186K Chromebooks, iPads, and laptops to meet K-12 enrollment need.

• Device configuration with network security and compatibility with learning management system and assessment software.

• Over 33K mobile ‘hotspots’ delivered to families to help with connectivity.
How have we updated our infrastructure to support?

- Schools provided devices to students using social distancing protocols
- A COVID-19 hotline providing support to employees and families 7 days/week
- We continue to work with vendors to provide safe and secure solutions for video conferencing, student-family-teacher interactions, and access to instructional content.
The Future of Learning Starts Now.

Los Angeles Unified School District Make Distance Learning a Reality.

Kecia Ray
Moderator
Principal Consultant K20Connect
keciaray@k20connect.net

Alison Yoshimoto-Towery
Panelist
Chief Academic Officer
Los Angeles Unified School District

Soheil Katal
Panelist
Chief Information Officer
Los Angeles Unified School District